

PEACE AND GOOD
WILL IN THE EARTHObject of Great Conference of Nations Which Opens At Washington

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Nov. 12—Fresh with memories of their soldier dead the conference on limitation of armaments met in its first session today to seek "a rule under which reason and righteousness shall prevail."

In the Memorial Hall of the Daughters of the American Revolution, the statesmen of five great powers and representatives of four more gathered about the conference table.

In opening the conference President Harding said:

Harding's Address
Mr. Secretary and Members of the Conference; Ladies and Gentlemen:

It is a great and happy privilege to bid the delegates to this conference a cordial welcome to the Capital of the United States of America. It is not only a satisfaction to greet you because we were lately participants in a common cause, in which shared sacrifices and sorrows and triumphs brought our nations more closely together, but it is gratifying to address you as the spokesmen for nations whose convictions and attending actions have so much to do with the weal or woe of all mankind.

It is not possible to overpraise the importance of such a conference. It is not unseemly boast, no disparagement of other nations, which, though represented, are held in highest respect to declare that the conclusions of this body will have a signal influence on all human progress—the fortunes of the world.

Here is a meeting, I can well believe, which is an earnest of the awakened conscience of twentieth century civilization. It is not a convention or remorse, nor a session of sorrow. It is not the conference of victors to define terms of settlement. Nor is it a council of nations seeking to remake mankind. It is rather a coming together from all parts of the earth to apply the better attributes of mankind to minimize the faults of our international relationships.

Speaking as official sponsor for the invitation, I think I may say the call is not of the United States of America alone. It is rather the spoken word of a war-weary world, struggling for restoration, hungering and thirsting for better relationship; of humanity crying for relief and craving assurance of lasting peace.

It is easy to understand this world-wide aspiration. The glory of triumph, the rejoicing in achievement, the love of liberty, the devotion to country, the pangs of sorrow, the burdens of debt, the desolation of ruin—all these are appraised alike in all lands. Here in the United States we are but freshly turned from the burial of an unknown American soldier, when a nation sorrowed while paying him tribute. Whether it was spoken or not, a hundred millions of our people were summarizing the incalculable causes, the incalculable cost, the unspeakable sacrifices and the mutterable sorrows, and there was the ever-impelling question: Who can humanity justify or God forgive? Human hate demands no such toll; ambition and greed must be denied it. If misunderstanding must take the blame, then let us banish it, and let understanding rule and make good will regnant everywhere.

All of us demand liberty and justice. There cannot be one without the other, and they must be held the unquestioned possession of all peoples. Inherent rights are of God, and the tragedies of the world organize in their attempted denial.

The world today is infringing their enjoyment by aiming to defend or deny, when simple sanity calls for their recognition thru common understanding.

Out of the cataclysm of the world war came new fellowships, new convictions, new aspirations. It is ours to make the most of them. A world staggering with debt needs its burdens lifted. Humanity which has been shocked by wanton destruction would minimize the agencies of that destruction. Contemplating measureless cost of war and the continuing burden of armament, all thoughtful peoples wish for real limitation of armament and would like war outlawed. In soberest reflection the world's hundreds of millions who pay in peace and die in war wish their statesmen to turn the expenditures for destruction into means of construction, aimed at a higher state for those who live and follow after.

It is not alone that the world can not readjust itself and cast aside its excess burdens without relief from the leaders of men. War has grown progressively cruel and more destructive from the first conflict recorded to this present day, and the reverse would more become our boasted civilization.

Gentlemen of the conference, the United States welcomes you with unselfish hands. We harbor no fears; we have no sordid ends to serve; we suspect no enemy; we contemplate or apprehend no conquest. Content with what we have, we seek nothing which is another's. We only wish to do with you that finer, nobler thing which no nation can do alone.

We wish to sit with you at the table of international understanding and good will. In good conscience we are eager to meet you frankly and invite and offer cooperation. The world demands a sober contemplation of the existing order and the realization that there can be no cure without sacrifice, but not by one of us, but by all of us.

I do not mean surrendered rights, or naive freedom, or denied aspirations, or ignored national necessities. Our republic would no more ask for these than it would give. No pride need be humbled, no nationality submerged, but I would have a mergence of minds committing all of us to less preparation for war and for more enjoyment of fortunate peace.

The higher hopes come of the spirit of our coming together. It is but just to recognize varying needs and peculiar positions. Nothing can be accomplished in disregard of national apprehensions. Rather we should act together to remove the causes of apprehension. This is not to be done in intrigue. Greater assurance is found in the exchanges of simple honesty and directness, among men resolved to accomplish as become leaders among nations, when civilization itself has come to its crucial test.

It is not to be challenged that Government fails when the excess of its cost robs the people of the way to happiness and the opportunity to achieve. If the finer sentiments were not urging, the cold hard facts of excessive cost and the eloquence of economic armaments. If the concept of a better order does not appeal, then let us ponder the burden and the blight of continued competition.

It is not to be denied that the world has swung along through the ages without heeding this call from the kinder hearts of men. But the same world never before was so tragically brought to realization of the utter futility of passion's sway when reason and conscience and fellowship point a nobler way.

I can speak officially only for our United States. Our hundred millions frankly want less of armament and none of war. Wholly free from guile, sure in our own minds that we harbor no unworthy designs, we accredit the world with the same good intent. So I welcome you, not alone in good will and high purpose, but with high faith.

We are met for a service to mankind. In all simplicity, in all honesty and all honor, there may be written here the avowals of a world conscience refined by the consuming fires of war, and made more sensitive by the anxious aftermath. I hope for that understanding which will emphasize the guarantees of peace, and for commitments to less burdens and a better order which will tranquilize the world. In such an accomplishment there will be added glory to your flags and ours, and the rejoicing of mankind will make the transcending music of all succeeding time.

AUTOMOBILE WRECK
MAY RESULT FATALLY

Berea Vocational Students Seriously Injured When Car Break Wheel

Jasper Combs was probably fatally injured, and Robert Caldwell and O. C. Fletcher badly injured when an automobile in which they were coming to Richmond from Berea to attend the Legion-State football game broke a wheel and turned turtle about a mile out of Richmond shortly after noon Friday.

Combs and Caldwell were brought first aid after being brought to Richmond, and then rushed on to a hospital at Lexington. Both are government vocational students at Berea College. Local physicians found that Combs sustained three broken ribs and a fracture of one of the small bones of his neck, besides other injuries and cuts and bruises. Caldwell is also hurt internally, while Fletcher had a hand and arm badly hurt. Oscar Rader sustained numerous cuts and bruises, also.

The accident happened on a turn, near the home of T. D. Chenaunt. Oscar Rader was bringing the boys to the game in his touring car, and they said it was running at a rapid rate when one wheel struck an obstruction as it made a quick turn and broke down. This turned the car completely over and it seemed a miracle that all were not instantly killed.

DEAD AT COLLEGE HILL

Dr. T. J. Berryman died at his home at College Hill Thursday morning after a long illness, age 76 years. He was one of the most prominent citizens in the community, having resided there the past 15 years. Prior to that time he made his home in Estill county. He was for many years an active member in the Baptist church. Funeral services were held Saturday morning at 11 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Godby of Cynthia. Interment in College Hill cemetery. He is survived by his wife, two daughters, Mrs. Cecil Willoughby and Mrs. Dossie Ginter, and two sons, Messrs. Sam Berryman, of College Hill, and Clay Berryman, of Ravenna.

DEMOCRATS STILL HOLD FISCAL COURT

As a result of the election Tuesday the new Fiscal Court which takes charge of the county's financial affairs in January next, will be composed of four Republican magistrates and four Democrats. With County Judge elect Goodloe presiding, the Democrats will have the control of the county, should partisan questions arise, which is not often the case with Madison's Fiscal Court. The closest race in the whole election was staged in the 8th magisterial district where Jones, Republican, beat Teater, Democrat, by only a majority. Teater made a magnificent race against big odds. The official report on the magisterial races shows:

U. S. PROPOSES BIG
DESTRUCTION OF SHIPSSecretary Hughes Presents
America's Proposal To Secure
Real Disarmament Program

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Nov. 12—A ten-year naval holiday in naval construction, involving a tremendous scrapping of ships now on the ways on contemplated, by the United States, Great Britain and Japan, was proposed to the conference on limitation of armaments by Secretary Hughes at the opening session today, as an American proposal.

Briefly, the proposal is that these powers immediately destroy the 66 capital fighting ships with a total tonnage of 1,800,000. The United States would destroy six battle cruisers, seven battle ships on the ways and two battle ships launched; Japan, seven new and ten old ships; Great Britain, would scrap all first and second line battleships up to the King George fifth class.

Within three months after making this agreement, the navies would consist of: United States, 18; Great Britain, 22; Japan, 10. In tons, this would be the United States, 500,000; Great Britain, 600,000, and Japan, 300,000, all approximately. Subject to the ten-year holiday limitation, the capital ships could be replaced when 20 years old, no replacement ship to have a tonnage over 35,000. Provisions are made for other war craft.

TO FOX HUNTERS

Perhaps the first time that a sermon has been preached to the fox hunters at their national meeting at Crab Orchard Springs, will occur Sunday. Dr. R. L. Telford, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, of this city, will go over to the big meet and give the fox hunters some old fashioned religion Sunday. He says he appreciated greatly the invitation from the boys and is going to give them the best he has in the shop.

The opening scores of the Chase Futurity, the first big feature of the 18th annual meeting of the National Fox Hunters' Association, give the lead to Len Shouse's hound, Great Stride, son of Big Stride, the famous fox hound of Sam Walters, of Versailles, for which he has refused an offer of $1,000.

Eighty dogs were entered in the Futurity held under the auspices of a magazine of which Samuel L. Woolridge, of Versailles, is president, and Robert J. Breckinridge, of Lexington, is editor. Four foxes were seen.

A son of Scott, owned by Robt. Roles, Bowling Green banker, was second in the feature, and 5 dogs were tied for third. They are owned by Alex Parrish, of Berea; T. V. Graham, West Virginia; Sam Walters, Versailles; Dr. D. E. Sevier, Ashland, N. C., and John Bramham, Chicago. The judges were Wm. Redditt, Mississippi; Charles Rankin and Edward Powers, Kentucky; Sam Velson, Long Island, and Dr. W. A. Patton, Alabama. All are veterans for huntersmen.

THE RIGHT TIME TO SECURE SUBSCRIPTIONS$30 Worth of Subscriptions To Daily Register Means 25,000
Extra Votes For Workers

We cannot call attention too forcibly to the big offer starting in the Daily Register subscription campaign—$30.00 Period—the biggest period of the campaign. It is important that every candidate strive to secure all the subscriptions they can in the early stage of this period, because each 330 turned in now means 25,000 extra votes and the extra votes may make you a winner of a Dodge Touring car or a pretty Ford sedan, or one of the other big prizes being offered you by the Daily Register.

Every candidate in this contest is requested to make a report each week and to turn in what subscriptions they may have collected, as we have heard of several who are working and securing subscribers that have not made a report in over two weeks. Please come and report.

This is a race for workers and all inactive candidates will be dropped after this week, so be sure and make your report by Tuesday, no matter whether it is large or small, for we want to know that you are interested in this race and are really trying.

The Way to Win

The way to win is to solicit and secure as many new subscribers and as many renewal subscriptions as possible for the Daily Register. This will not be hard to do, for every old reader is ready and willing to renew, and each day new subscribers are pouring into this office, for everybody wants the Daily Register, for it is up-to-the-minute, with all the very latest news that everybody wants to read. So get these new subscribers and those renewals and get them in the first stage of the $30 Period, while the votes are 25,000 for each $30 worth of subscriptions.

RUTLEDGE AND
HORD WIN EASILY

The official count of the ballots as made Friday show that the people of the county school district appear pretty well satisfied with the work that Messrs. J. F. Hord and J. H. Rutledge are doing on the County Board of Education. They won by big majorities over Messrs. Golden and Todd, the vote having been cast on separate ballots, and only in the country precincts outside the cities of Richmond and Berea. The vote by precincts was:

BILIOUS CHILDREN

Black-Draught, Long in Successful Use, Praised by an Arkansas Mother, "Soon Does Its Work."

Marmaduke, Ark.—Speaking of Theodor's Black-Draught, which from long use in her household has become regarded as "the family medicine," Mrs. Mary E. Hill, of Route 1, this place, says:

"When the children get bilious, I give them a couple of good doses, and when we have sour stomach, headache, or any liver or stomach trouble, we use Black-Draught. It is an easy laxative, and soon does the work. I certainly think it is one of the best remedies made."

Black-Draught acts on the liver, gently, but positively, and helps it in its important function of throwing out waste materials and poisons from the system.

In thousands of households Black-Draught is kept handy for immediate use in time of need. Prompt treatment often is half the battle, and will often prevent slight ills from developing into serious troubles.

Its well-established merit, during more than 70 years of successful use, should convince you of the helpful effects obtainable by taking Black-Draught for liver and stomach disorders. Get a package today, and keep it in your house. See that the package bears the words, "Theodor's Black-Draught." NO. 147

The opening of the November of Federal Court here Monday, November 14th, will mark the first appearance of Sawyer Smith of Barboursville, as U. S. District Attorney. Mr. Smith was recently appointed by President Harding to succeed Thomas H. Slatery, who held the office under President Wilson's administration. Mr. Smith has many friends here and will receive a cordial welcome when he comes to Richmond.

There are about 35 new criminal cases on the docket, including the sensational car robbery cases from near King's Mountain in Lincoln county, wherein it is alleged that a gang of men stole from freight cars and sold the stolen goods to country merchants. There are about 20 criminal cases left over from the April term. As usual, a large part of the docket is made up of whisky cases, moonshining and bootlegging.

Stories of Great Scouts

By Elmo Scott Watson

© Western Newspaper Union.
DANIEL BOONE, THE GREAT KENTUCKIAN

Daniel Boone was the son of Quaker parents who lived in Pennsylvania. Although the principal doctrine in the Quaker creed is that man must not kill, Daniel departed from the faith of his fathers early and he became one of the greatest Indian fighters in American history.

When Boone was eighteen his parents moved to North Carolina and in the Yadkin valley of that state, young Boone became an expert woodsman and hunter. Attracted by the tales of a hunter who had crossed the Appalachians into the unknown Kentucky country, Boone visited the Blue Grass state several times until he finally decided to make that country his home. In 1775 he established Boonesborough, the first outpost of civilization in the "Dark and Bloody Ground," as Kentucky was called because it was a battleground for many tribes of Indians.

Boone's adventures with the Indians in his new home were innumerable. In 1778 he was captured by the Shawnees, who admired the scout's courage so much that he was not put to death. Instead Chief Black Fish adopted him, giving him the name of Big Turtle—rather an inappropriate title for a man so active. Boone pretended to be well pleased with his captivity and after several months the watchfulness of the savages relaxed. Then he made his escape.

Several years later this same band of Shawnees came to Boonesborough to kidnap their former captive. They found Boone in a little shanty used for drying tobacco.

"Now Boone, we got you," said the Indians. "You no get away this time!" "Yes, you have me but I am glad to go with you," replied the scout. "But I want my friends to have some of this tobacco."

He gathered up a number of the driest leaves and, unseen by the Indians, crushed them in his hands. Before they could move, he threw the powdered tobacco into their eyes. As the blinded savages rolled on the floor howling and digging at their eyes, the former "Big Turtle" showed unexpected speed and was far up the trail to the fort before they could pursue him.

In his later years Boone was cheated out of the rich Kentucky lands he had fought so hard to win and he migrated to Missouri, becoming a hunter once more. He died there in 1820 at the age of eighty-six. A quarter of a century later Kentucky paid him belated honor by removing his body to the capital of the state and today Daniel Boone sleeps in the land where he won fame as a pioneer and scout.

ROWLETT FARM SELLS AT $176.30

The Freeman Realty Company of this city conducted another splendid real estate sale Thursday when they sold for L. C. Rowlett his farm of 60 acres on Bogg Lane. J. Morgan Evans, was the purchaser, after spirited bidding, at $176.30 an acre. The tract is a dandy one, but only has a barn for improvements. It is very conveniently located. Long Tom Chenault cried the sale in his usual finished and effective style, and it was one of the very best land sales in this section this year.

Clearfield, Pa.—"After my last child was born last September I was unable to do all of my own work. I had severe pains in my left side every month and had fever and sick dizzy spells and such pains during my periods, which lasted two weeks. I heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound doing others so much good and thought I would give it a trial. I have been very glad that I did, for now I feel much stronger and do all of my work. I tell my friends when they ask me what helped me, and they think it must be a grand medicine. And it is. You can use this letter for a testimonial if you wish."—Mrs. HARRY A. WILSON, R. F. PEACE AND GOOD WILL meeting hall of the department conference was a picture of color as the delegations and spectators began to arrive. The military and naval attaches in full dress uniform made a show of plumes and spangles such as Washington has not seen since the war.

Secretary Hughes called the conference to order at 10:33 o'clock. When President Harding arrived. After a prayer by Chaplain Abernathy, the President arose and addressed the assemblage. His appearance was greeted with cheers, and then silence, as he read his address.

The first applause came when he said the conference must have "a signal influence" on the world's fortunes. There was more applause when he asked how civilization could ever justify the destruction of the last war and again when he said war should be "outlawed," and the world's resources turned into constructive channels. There was tensest silence when he pronounced the keynote.

"We only wish to do with you that finer, nobler thing which no nation can do alone; we wish to sit with you at a table of international understanding and good will; in good conscience we are eager to meet frankly and in confidence and offer co-operation."

Some delegations came to their feet, cheering when Harding declared America wanted "less of armament and none of war," and wanted "to work to that end." The demonstration ended when the President left the room.

Arthur Balfour nominated Secretary Hughes to be chairman of the conference. He accepted, and John W. Garrett, of Baltimore, was selected Secretary-General. Hughes presented the American plans for naval limitation. The meeting formulated a conference program and adjourned until next Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Stevens, of Irvine, were with Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Terrill, the first of the week.

COMMUNITY CLUB'S FIRST ANNIVERSARY

On Tuesday evening in the parlors of the First Christian church the Sue Douglas Community Club observed its first anniversary. Mrs. Ballard Luxon, who has been the efficient president since organization of the club, presided and asked that Miss Belle H. Bennett, who was present, and a member open the meeting with prayer.

Mrs. Luxon then gave an account of the origin of the club, and paid a beautiful and loving tribute to the one in whose name and memory it was organized. When Mrs. June Baxter, secretary, called the roll each member responded with a new member, several bringing three or four new members into the club. It now has a membership of forty-five, with a representation from each of the five churches in the community.

In a wonderfully interesting report, Mrs. Baxter enumerated the various things accomplished by the club in the first year, among them being the furnishing of a room at the Patti-Gay Inn, the equipping of two playgrounds for the white and colored children in East End, the distribution of clothing and food to the needy and sick. The total receipts of the club for the first year was approximately three hundred dollars. At the conclusion of such a splendid report, there was an impulse on the part of more than one present to join in a song of praise to God from whom all these blessings had come. The whole meeting was characterized by a spirit of willingness and marked determination.

The president then asked Dr. Carpenter to come forward and explain the desire on the part of the Associated Charities which is now known as the Health and Welfare League, the Red Cross and the Community Club to correlate their work. The Red Cross has given the club the use of their room in the basement of the Episcopal church, where at stated times each week clothing will be sent and under the leadership of Mrs. H. M. Whittington, the clothing will be distributed among the needy ones this winter.

The club was delighted to have with them Mrs. Paul Burnam, who rendered a vocal solo. Following this, Deaconess Emily Olmstead pictured the future of the club when it should become known throughout the city as an instrument of uplift in the community, making it a better place in which to live. She spoke briefly of the plans of her committees to have a community Christmas tree, and asked the cooperation of those present to make this year the very happiest for the poor children in our city.

Miss Bennett, then, told of the work of community clubs in other cities, especially in the west, where the women who were elected as Police Commissioners, were able to do many things for the betterment of their communities.

At the conclusion of the program, delightful hot chocolate and sandwiches were served.

MAY PLAY OFF TIE ON THANKSGIVING A. M.

Plans are being made for a play-off of the tie football game between the Legion eleven and the State Sophs here Thanksgiving morning, November 24th if possible. On account of the very inclement weather the Legionaires came "out in the hole" on their expenses with the big Armistice Day celebration Friday and it is hoped their friends will turn out for the game Thanksgiving Day morning. The game will be played in the morning, so that all who desire may attend the State-Knoxville game in the afternoon.

a big day Friday, and the only trouble was the bad weather. The ceremonies at Berea were enjoyed in the morning. The band concert before the game here Friday was fine and then the march to the Normal campus by the entire membership of the two posts was very impressive. The big day wound up with a delightful banquet at the Masonic temple in the evening, during which the posts fed over 250 of the boys with a splendid menu, consisting of old country ham, beaten biscuit, chicken salad, cranberries, coffee, ice cream and cake. A delightful feature of the banquet was the absence of long-winded speeches.

Captain W. B. Showalter died at his home in Frankfort, age 89 years.

DO DODGERS WIN 5TH STRAIGHT VICTORY

The Dodge Brothers football team made its five straight victories by defeating the Madison Hi Freshmen on the Normal field Friday by a score of 21 to 0. The game was called at the end of the first half on account of rain, made the other two on line bucks.

The Dodgers outplayed the fresh men at every stage of the game and at no time had their goal line of danger of being crossed. Clay Pearson played a fine game for the victors, being in the play all the time and carrying the ball for more gains than any other.

Shelfon Sautley, captain of the Dodgers, kicked all of the goals. He also shot a pass to Harry Blanton for a nice gain of 20 yards. The Madison line was unable to stave off the Dodge attack, but did show some nice form at certain stages of the game. The Madison team also completed several good forward passes. The Dodgers were slated to meet the Winchester City Hi Freshmen, but they were unable to come, so this game was played instead. The Dodgers are proud of their record of not having had their goal line crossed so far this season.

HARD FOUGHT GAME PROVES SCORELESS

Legion Boys Held U. of K. Sophs
To A Tie In Fiercest Game of the Season

The Beren and Richmond Posts of the American Legion battled to a scoreless tie with the University of Kentucky Sophmores on the Normal gridiron Friday in one of the hardest fought games played on the local field this season. This game was the final event of the Armistice Day celebration. The closest that either team came to scoring was in the last half. Each attempted a kick goal from the field, but each failed in the attempt. The last try for the locals came in the fourth quarter when Berman tried for a dropkick. The local center, however, threw the ball over Joe's head and the kick could not be made. The game was played half the time in a drizzle and the field was very wet and slippery. A large crowd braved the weather, though.

The Madison county posts were outplayed in the first quarter but came back in the second period and outplayed the visitors. In quarter number one the former soldiers made one first down to the Sophs three, but in the second quarter the locals made three first downs to the Sophs' none. Batson from Beren made most of the locals' gains in the first half, hitting the line for gains at almost every attempt. Batson was responsible for most of the first downs made by the locals in the first half. Hembree, Lassiter and Franklin Deatherage composed the rest of the back field at the start of the game. Joe Berman relieved Hembree at the beginning of the second half. George, however, opened the game with a fine tackle which caused the Sophs five yard loss. Deatherage came in for his share of good playing in the game. Hembree was an outstanding star while in the game. Many fans thought the soldiers could have scored if both he and Berman had been used the full game. Lassiter did the punting for the locals and did some fine work. He made a nice punt in the fourth quarter that traveled fifty yards to a Soph who was downed in his tracks by Berman.

Dewhurst made the longest gain of the day around right end. This Soph carried the ball 45 yards and would have made a touchdown if he had not been caught by the fast Berman and downed. The gray line of the Sophs was heavier than the locals but the Legion boys held through out the game. The lineup: Legion (0) Sophs (0)

TIE VOTE IN BEREA COUNCILMANIC RACE

The official vote as made Friday shows that two candidates for councilmen received exactly the same vote at Berea Tuesday. They are F. O. Clark with 338 and W. S. Strachan with the same vote. As Berea elects six councilmen and each is within the first six, both go on the council.

Jas. L. Gay was unopposed for mayor of Berea and received 442 votes; Watkins for chief of police was also unopposed and received 376 votes. The councilmanic vote, as shown by the official count was:

COLORED COLUMN

The organization of the association for colored teachers of Madison county was a success. The following officers were elected: Mrs. B. J. Coleman, president; Miss Anna Maupin, secretary; Mr. Jarmon Haynes, treasurer; Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson, reporter; Miss Vera Miller, Mraion Bennett, Miss Sarah Watts, program committee. The following topics were discussed: What benefit is the co-operation of parent and teacher? The right kind of thrift. The good people of community are much inspired and say they will do what their hands find to do for the upbuilding of their school. A delicious lunch was served. They adjourned to meet at their regular monthly meeting held at the high school building, Nov. 12.

Making Official Count

The County Board of Election Commissioners was busy all day Friday, making official count of the vote cast in the election Tuesday. The members of the board are C. B. Terrill, democrat, E. C. Million, republican and Sheriff P. S. Whitlock as chairman. Board Chairman J. J. Greenleaf, of the Democratic committee and W. C. Mays of the republican committee, are on hand scrutinizing the tabulation closely. A number of the candidates are also in the building, waiting for the result of the election to be officially announced.

Guy W. Smith's heirs were given a judgment of $15,000 in Bowling Green when Mr. Smith was killed by a railroad bridge being dynamited.
